CRUMBLING BOULEVARD Deteriorating conditions of Beach Boulevard prompted the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Tuesday to adopt ordinances establishing a 20-mile-per-hour speed limit along the thoroughfare from Waveland Avenue to Forest Street in Clermont Harbor and a ban on so-called "heavy" traffic which is not clearly defined in the ordinance. ## Bond issue on-again, off-again; officials quibble delay's cause

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
Errors in legal drafts have once again delayed a Hancock County School District capital improvements bond issue election, and attorneys are attempting to prepare an accurate proposal.
Board of Supervisors at its Tuesday meeting voided a school board bond issue election proposal the supervisors had previously approved May 21. The election was slated for Tuesday, August 7.
A second bond issue proposal was offered Tuesday by the school board for $11,000 less than the amount sought in the voided proposal, but an error was discovered at the Supervisors meeting in the second proposal also.

The supervisors voided the first bond issue proposal (with election scheduled August 7) because the school board reported an "inaccurate" bonded indebtedness figure was used in calculating the maximum amount for which the bond issue could be called.
Hancock County Chancery Clerk John Rutherford offered the following explanation of the error in the first (August 7) proposal:

"What happened is, I don't know if Terrell (Terrell Randolph, Hancock County School District superintendent) came over here and picked it (the bonded indebtedness figure) up or somebody else picked it up. We had what is called a short term loan to the school district and we have a long term loan—that's a bond issue."
"And when we made payments on those loans here sometime ago, our June 3, 1978 computer readout showed $217,000 outstanding on the long term loan."

However, because bonded indebtedness is $203,000 rather than $192,000, as believed previously, the maximum amount for which a new bond issue can be called is $3,711,459 or some $11,000 less, according to Randolph.
The Supervisors Tuesday approved BOND ISSUE-Page 10A

Board limits speed, weight on beach road

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
"Heavy traffic" has been banned on Hancock County beach road, and the speed limit from Waveland Avenue to Forest Street in Clermont Harbor has been decreased from 35 to 20 miles per hour.
Hancock County Supervisors, at a Tuesday meeting, approved resolutions instituting the bans.
Heavy traffic is now banned from Washington Street to Nicholson Avenue in Beat Four; Nicholson Avenue to Waveland Avenue in Beat Two; and Waveland Avenue to Forrest Street in Beat One.

Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge described heavy traffic as "trucks and trailers except for pick-up trucks."
Beat Two Supervisor Alton Kellar defines heavy traffic to be, "everything SPEED LIMIT-Page 10A

August primary qualifying deadline is 5 p.m. Friday

By ELLIS GUEVAS
Democratic and Republican hopefuls have until 5 p.m. Friday, June 5, to file as candidates in the August 7 primary election.
All local incumbents are seeking re-election with the exception of Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr., Justice Court Judge Joseph (Joe) Dobson of District Four, and Wm. Frisbie of District Five.
Dobson is seeking the office of sheriff and Ladner, the incumbent sheriff who reportedly is not seeking re-election, has been mentioned as a possible candidate in other positions.
The only Republican candidate, as of Wednesday morning, McCormick Wheeler, is seeking the office of sheriff.

State Representative J. P. Compretta, Circuit Clerk Henry Otis, Tax Assessor-Collector Edward D. (Eddie) Murtagh Jr., District Five Supervisor James N. (Jimmy) Travica, Justice Court Judge Lee B. Klein of District One and District Two Justice Court Judge Horatio Frierson Jr. were unopposed at press time.
A total of seven are seeking the post which Justice Court Judge Joseph Dobson now seats. They are Gary (Red) E. Necaise, Nicholas M. (Mac) Haas, G. R. (Jerry) Seizemore, Bruce (Necaise) Robert (Bob) Boekel, Mrs. Earl (Miss Nina) Garcia and Kelvin (K.C.) Schulz.
District Three Supervisor Oscar

Peterson now has a total of five opponents: Joseph A. Cuevas, a former supervisor; Clinton C. Ladner; Roger Dale Ladner; Robert (Bob) Guldry; and Laila O. Necaise Jr.
Alton A. (Dolph) Kellar, board president, will be seeking his fifth term as supervisor of District Two with Herion K. Lumpkin as an opponent.
District One Supervisor Bert Courge seeks his second term, facing James (Jim) Ladner and James D. (Bucky) Reynolds as opponents.
Same, Benjamin Sr. seeks his second term as supervisor for District Four against former supervisor H. (Bully) Zengarleng and Hugo Vernon (Dutch) Haas.
Zengarleng didn't seek re-election four years ago.
Martin Smith, state senator for Hancock and Pearl River Counties, faces Harry D. Mitchell.
In addition to Dobson in the sheriff's race on the Democratic ballot will be James C. Ladner, former deputy sheriff; Ronald A. (Ronnie) Peterson, chief deputy sheriff; Fairley N. Necaise, until recently a deputy sheriff and former Coroner Emile Piazza and Wheeler, the Republican candidate.
J. D. (Big John) Rutherford is seeking his third four-year term with Mike Necaise, Jerry L. Ladner and Lila Ladner Taylor as opponents.
In the Superintendent of Education race for Hancock County, incumbent Terrell (Terry) Randolph has four opponents: Billy D. Sills, James Paul

Annunciation Festival to feature politicians

The Father A. C. Denis Council No. 7087, Knights of Columbus, is sponsoring the annual Annunciation Barbecue Festival in Kiln, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.
The Council is sponsoring the traditional Annunciation Church Fair for the first time this year, according to Jim Ray Hoda, festival chairman and Council financial secretary.
A 7 p.m. fish fry followed by a disco dance at 8 p.m. Friday night will kick-off the festival.

A softball tourney will be conducted Saturday and Sunday, and an adult dance featuring the music of Allen Fontenot and his Country Cajuns is slated for 9 a.m. Saturday.
Political speeches and a "battle of bands" are planned Sunday, according to O. J. Shiyon, council grand knight. Also featured will be booths, games, food and drink, and prizes.

Bishop heads cadet blessing delegation

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and Gulf Fishermen, Inc. of Bay St. Louis will co-host a 2 p.m. Blessing of the Fleet at the Bayou Cadet Marina Saturday.
The Most Rev. Joseph L. Howze, bishop of the Biloxi Diocese, will perform the traditional blessing preceding the opening of the shrimp season June 15.
The bishop will be assisted by Rev. Walter Braken, SVD, of St. Augustine Seminary, Bay St. Louis.
The festivities are expected to begin at noon, with live bands. "Boiled shrimp, crabs, crawfish, sandwiches, soft drinks, and beer will be on sale at the concession stand. Proceeds will be used to maintain the marina."
The cruiser, OMECO, owned by John Housey, chairman of the board of Orleans Materials, New Orleans, will be used for the Bishop, judges, and officials of Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Hancock County to view the parade of boats outside the mouth of the Bayou.
There will also be a reviewing stand at the Bayou Cadet Marina for other officials.

Judging boats for best decorations will be Congressman Trent Lott; Elaine Stevens of WLOX-TV; Blinn and Pic Firman, editor of South Mississippi Sun, a Biloxi newspaper.
There will be a formal presentation of the trophies when boats return to the Bayou Cadet Marina.
Dick Thomas, president of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, will present the trophies.
Parade entries are being handled by Gulf Fishermen, Inc., 536 Meadow Lane, Waveland; 36676 or call 467-7646.

Waveland 'hole' returns, claims Slidell swimmer

By RICH ADAMS
A 23-year-old Slidell man drowned Sunday in a hole which has claimed 23 other lives near the Gulfside Methodist Assembly in Waveland, and WVUE television "Action Reporter" Ed Marten was at the scene Wednesday afternoon at the request of the dead man's father.
Dale J. Remy of Route 6, Box 445, Slidell, drowned when he stepped off the edge of a deep hole and went under, according to Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr.
Ladner said Remy and his sister were walking the beach when they met Hubert Gauthier Meraux, also of Louisiana, who joined them.
They then went wading near the hole, noticed a steady drop, and suddenly Remy was pulled beneath the water, the sheriff said.
Meraux attempted to save Remy, but failed after a few attempts, he added. Ladner said Hancock County Civil Defense, Waveland Police Department and private individuals joined in a search for the body, which was recovered that afternoon and taken to Bayou Cadet Marina.
Remy's father, Maurice Remy, called Marten to investigate the incident.
Marten said he had been told the hole was about 4 feet deep and 2 feet wide, and that it was located near the shore.
Marten said he had been told the hole was about 4 feet deep and 2 feet wide, and that it was located near the shore.

death are most often overlooked," Marten said as he took a break between tapings.
"Why is there no sign? What could be any simpler," he asked.
"There should be a four-by-four piece of plywood erected between a few two-by-fours saying 24 people have died here," he continued.
"People react to fear," the newsmen added.
Marten said the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and other politicians have discussed filling in the hole again, but nobody has suggested an immediate solution to the drownings.
"There has been $100,000 spent on this hole to fill it in, but the situation is still dangerous," he said.

TRIBUTE TO A REAL AMERICAN

Who was Nathaniel Williams?
1917-1979

He was a black man, a real true American, a very good family man, an honest man, and a man that was proud of his country, his family and his accomplishments. He worked hard for what he accomplished.

Mr. Williams was born in Mississippi, raised in Mississippi. During World War II he joined the U.S. Army and served his country in many battles with pride and honor. After the war he came to Waveland and married Mrs. Annie Nelson, and went on to father six children, raised and educated them. He was very proud of his wife and children.

He was not a rich man, politician or highly educated, but he was a person that we all looked forward to seeing every day. He always had a smile for everyone. Never had anything bad to say about anyone. He always did his job and never complained. He was really honest, very faithful friend to everyone who knew him. He will certainly be missed.

He worked with me for many years, he taught me. Nathaniel Williams will be laid to rest by his family and friends Saturday morning at 11 a.m. in Waveland.

Hazard demands action

In our modern society today, if a hazard crops up, the normal action usually taken by authorities is to eliminate the problem. There is a serious hazard which exists in the surf several hundred feet off Beach Boulevard in Waveland, a hole which has claimed 24 victims in recent years.

All types of signs have been constructed warning swimmers of the dangers, but some vandals have taken some down and others rough water has destroyed. Each time more are put up as replacements.

The Corps of Engineers attempted to fill the hole several months ago with spoils from the deepening of Bayou Cadet. Obviously, the spoils are not enough, or were not properly placed.

The Corps of Engineers didn't guarantee the problem hole would be eliminated.

Far too many lives have been taken by this hole, so apparently drastic action must be taken. We have to admit there isn't very much more which can be done.

With Buccaneer State Park attracting so many folks and being in the immediate area of the hole, there must be a solution to the problem.

We realize that our law enforcement agencies cannot post a guard 24 hours a day warning swimmers of the dangers, because right off they would say we are trying to harass the swimmers.

Even as the rescue personnel were still searching Sunday for the body of the latest victim—a 23-year old Slidell man—other swimmers naively approached the hole and had to be warned off by the officials.

Those who are involved in the recovery of the body of someone drowned do not like the task. We realize it comes under the jobs of some people, yet they should be commended as well as the many volunteers whom we see involved whenever there is a need.

We hope someone in our community will come up with an answer to the hole, or it would be even welcomed from someone from another area.

The time is now to take the proper steps to eliminate the problem hole, no matter what the cost. If it takes a million dollars, it would still be cheap compared to the value of one life, and yet 24 have drowned in the same hole already.

Proposed Cadet basin changed to L-shape

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

Configuration of the proposed anchorage basin at Bayou Cadet has been changed from 'long and narrow to L-shaped.'

Hancock County Board of Supervisors authorized the change at its Tuesday meeting on recommendation of its Port and Harbor Committee.

The Commission suggested the alteration after receiving a request from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Mobile District to change the configuration of the anchorage basin because several agencies had objected to the "long narrow configuration."

In a May 16 letter to the Commission, the Army department states: "Opposition is based upon the likelihood of poor circulation and resultant water quality degradation that could occur from the long dead end configuration, impacts of the construction, and future use of the basin on surrounding wetland areas."

"The L-shaped basin...should provide the required docking space, minimize degradation of water quality, reduce destruction of existing marsh, and also offer certain developmental advantages and operating efficiencies," the letter continues.

The L-plan, according to the letter, could be accomplished with essentially the same amount of dredging, use of the same disposal area (Site 14), and at the same federal and non-federal costs.

In addition the alternative plan to the long, narrow basin would allow Pleasure Street as an additional second or third access route thereby reducing potential operating congestion.

The plan, the Corps states, should provide better vessel maneuverability and have a greater potential for future expansion.

"The Corps does 'raise concern' with one aspect of the L-basin plan."

"The L alternative would utilize frontage along the southeast side of the long peninsula adjacent to Pleasure Street," the Corps explains.

Reportedly, this area was subdivided approximately 15 to 20 years ago for residential development. Hancock County records indicate the affected peninsula property is in single ownership and do not list any restrictive covenants or zoning," the Corps continues.

Inspection of the area indicates little development of the area which is about 10 acres," the Corps concludes.

In addition, the letter notes, shoreline features that have been typically observed, located at several of the existing structures "do not indicate any conflict or incompatibility of the developments and the fishing activities that would occur in the basin."

The Hancock County Tax Assessor's office reports Flora Wabbe and others are owners of the affected frontage along the southeast side of the long peninsula adjacent to Pleasure Street.

A DANGEROUS SITUATION—Someone unfamiliar with North Beach Boulevard could find himself in the Jourdan River since a recent accident knocked down the guard rail. We realize there previously had been signs about a dead end ahead, but were unable to find any on a visit over the weekend. Some type of railing should be constructed at the end of the road and also some types of dead end warnings.

SITUATION INVITES DISASTER - The condition of Beach Boulevard south of Waveland Avenue worsens each day since the roadway was heavily damaged in a late April storm. This extremely dangerous situation calls for some immediate remedy in addition to a 20-mile-per hour speed limit called for by the Board of Supervisors Tuesday. Inevitably, a motorist blinded by oncoming traffic at this point is going to edge over to the right, unaware of the steep drop-off, and a disastrous accident will be the result. Temporary signs and day-glo paint marking might save a life here while we wait for federal or state money to make the necessary permanent repairs.

FBI offers tips to deter break-in

SURVEY YOUR HOME

Burglars are opportunists. They look for targets that appear to offer a reasonable expectation of success, success in the form of loot and the opportunity to escape without detection.

Simple, low-cost, crime safety measures can help to prevent burglaries by reducing the opportunities on which burglars rely.

To help make your home less vulnerable to burglary, answer the following questions:

1. Is the address visible from the street at night so police can locate the home quickly if you should call for assistance?

2. Are all doors properly locked and are the windows properly secured?

3. Are all windows properly secured?

4. Are all doors properly locked and are the windows properly secured?

5. Are all doors properly locked and are the windows properly secured?

6. Are all doors properly locked and are the windows properly secured?

7. Are all doors properly locked and are the windows properly secured?

8. Are all doors properly locked and are the windows properly secured?

garage to the interior of the home equipped with quality deadbolt locks?

Are all standard exterior doors and any doors from the garage to the interior of your home made of steel or are they of solid core construction?

Are all exposed hinges on exterior doors painted or otherwise secured to prevent the door from being removed from the frame if the hinge pins are extracted?

Is there a door viewer in exterior doors if there is no other way to observe who is at the door?

Are sliding doors and windows protected by adequate locks, and are these locks used?

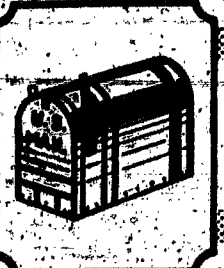

Are all windows equipped with adequate locking devices?

Are all other openings (vents, air conditioning, etc.) properly secured?

Have you answered "no" to any of the above questions? If so, you may want to consider improving the level of protection you are providing to your home and property by addressing these areas of potential vulnerability.

Beach resident appalled at litter

June 4, 1979.
City Council and Mayor,
Bay Saint Louis
Gentlemen:

The last two weekends have been horrendous with the filth and litter deposited on Bay St. Louis beaches, Beach Boulevard and the front yards of residents.

Dirty plates, cups, straws, beer cans, bottles, refuse and smelly garbage is dumped on my front lawn regularly.

It seems to me that a stiff fine upwards of $100 should be levied by law against those people using the beaches and despoiling everything within sight. Cars are constantly parked illegally, often in private driveways.

A concentrated campaign after appropriate signs for no littering were put up would more than pay for itself.

In fact, with the number of litter bugs each weekend and at $100 a crack we could put some money in the treasury.

One has to live on the beach to understand how callously dirty and filthy the habits are of many, many of the people misusing and despoiling a beach made for the enjoyment of Bay St. Louis citizens.

I am sure that a substantial number of the violators are outsiders who contribute practically nothing to the welfare of the community.

Sincerely yours,
Lionel Barker
Bay St. Louis

P.S. Dogs are also running loose, scattering garbage everywhere.

Senator Thad Cochran

SPECIAL REPORT:

OIL PRICE DECONTROL

Most Americans—these days and their elected representatives here in the Nation's Capitol, are taking a very hard look at the energy situation—and finding that we don't like much of what we see.

The current debate in Congress focuses on the removal of federal controls on the production price of crude oil. The President has proposed that such decontrol be coupled with what he calls a "windfall profits tax" on the producers of American crude oil. It's a critically important debate, one that's too often sidetracked by emotional bickering. I firmly believe the object of the current deliberations in the Congress should be hard-nosed problem solving, not short-sighted finger pointing.

In fact, our current oil supply problems are largely the fault of short-sighted and illogical government policies—the current situation didn't just happen overnight. The price controls placed by the federal government on the cost of American crude oil coming out of the ground have—far too long—kept the prices of our domestic oil artificially low. Federally controlled low petroleum prices have served to increase the demands for oil and gasoline and economic incentives to develop any alternative sources of energy. Federally controlled prices on a barrel of domestic oil average between nine and ten dollars; with some so-called old oil held below six dollars. The real market value of oil lies somewhere in between.

The federal price controls which the President has proposed lifting are shrinking the supply of oil available to American consumers. Our state of Mississippi is the nation's tenth leading producer of crude oil, yet the federal pricing structure keeps the average price we charge for our Mississippi crude the third lowest in the country. I support decontrol of crude oil, which will allow the price of petroleum fuels to find their true market value and which will make it economically probable that American producers will produce an adequate supply.

At the same time, I don't think that decontrol should be a license to steal; we must insure that additional revenues generated by decontrol of oil prices are spent on additional exploration and production. Along with Senator Jim McClure of Idaho, I am sponsoring a measure which would place additional taxes on oil companies if they make profits that exceed those earned by other non-oil companies. I believe this is a commonsense proposal which would prevent profiteering by oil companies while assuring we have the necessary incentives to find and produce more American oil at a realistic market price.

There is no doubt that we must use our existing energy resources more efficiently and redouble our efforts to find new ones promising new technologies; Federal government pricing constraints and policy decisions have discouraged efforts to expand our energy supplies. It's a lesson in the often overlooked limitations of the federal government.

We can't just pass a law and keep energy prices low and expect to have adequate supplies. But we can make sure the system of supply and demand isn't abused, and we can pass legislation that will permit our nation to recover from this state of confusion and frustration.

Washington report

By Trent Lott

The last time President Carter submitted a welfare "reform" plan to Congress, it died. As well it should have because of its estimated $33 billion price tag and ineffective approach to reducing the welfare bureaucracy.

Now the President has come forward with what he called a fairly modest $5.7 billion welfare reform package aimed at curing some of the ills in the system. Well, the plan has not received the attention of many Members of Congress yet, so the jury is still out on its potential.

I think it's to the President's credit that he continues to try to tackle the welfare problem, because the matter certainly needs attention. I also hope he and Congress can agree on the details of reforming the system.

Some are referring to his latest proposal and a means of forcing increased federalization of the welfare system and as a step in the wrong direction that could do more harm than good for taxpayers and the truly needy of this country.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States of America, for example, lists these five basic elements of the plan: universal eligibility with income the only test; benefit levels set by a central authority; benefits in cash; federal administration; and no work requirement.

The Chamber says the proposed establishes a national minimum benefit level for the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program, changes the criterion for eligibility from the number of hours worked to the amount of income earned, and standardizes the assets test and other program elements.

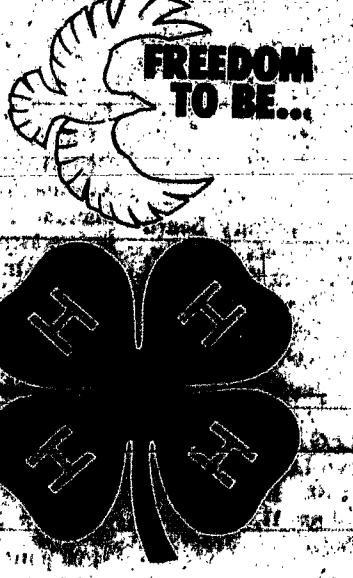

There is concern that the President's "modest" proposal may not be that at all. It may be only another way of providing a guaranteed annual income system, with welfare reform as a cover. It's too early to make a final judgement on that score, however.

Establishment of a guaranteed annual income for individuals whether they are working or not should be the goal of a proposed welfare reform plan.

To become a political reality, a comprehensive plan should, to the degree possible, provide a decent level of support for those on welfare, it must contain strong work incentives and it must have a reasonable cost. It should do all three at once, with no part missing or deficient.

True welfare reform, as I said last year when the President's original plan was presented, should contain eligibility requirements, rigorous fraud and abuse controls, and a work requirement in exchange for welfare benefits.

Congress has a duty to ensure that any reform proposal that comes before it meets these criteria. We have a duty to ensure that any reform proposal that comes before it meets these criteria.

'Tired of babysitting'

Youth attempts 2nd escape; Ladner tightens jail policy

By RICH ADAMS

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr. said he is "fed up with babysitting" juveniles at the county jail after one youth attempted a second jailbreak Saturday and another flooded the sheriff's office Monday.

Ladner's most recent problems with juveniles began May 20 when a youth broke an air conditioning vent in a juvenile holding cell and escaped, being recaptured an hour later clinging to a piling under the Ulman Avenue pier after sheriff's deputies and Bay Police conducted a search.

A second boy escaped a week later, using the same route as the first after being placed in the damaged juvenile cell on the insistence of Hancock County Youth Court-Counselor Jerry Sirbaugh, according to the sheriff's department.

The youth was captured at an auto wrecking yard in Waveland after a two-day search by authorities.

Saturday, the same juvenile allegedly attempted another jailbreak, this time after he picked a lock on an adult cell and sprayed a deputy with a fire extinguisher.

Ladner reported late Saturday afternoon Deputy Ronnie Cuevas was entering the jail when the 15-year-old boy jumped from behind a door and squirted the officer in the face with a chemical fire extinguisher.

Cuevas, taken aback, allegedly drew his revolver and the boy sprayed him in the face again, the sheriff reported.

Trusty Walter Davenport then grabbed the youth and wrestled the fire extinguisher from him, and brought Cuevas to the sheriff's office where he was transferred to Hancock General Hospital to have his eyes flushed, the sheriff added.

Ladner reported the youth picked the lock on the door with a spring taken from a mattress in the cell.

"This nearly blinded (Cuevas)," the sheriff said.

The sheriff reported Cuevas did not sustain permanent eye injury in the incident, however.

"Law enforcement in the county get the full end of everything. It is pitiful," the sheriff added.

Ladner also reported another juvenile in a holding cell flooded his shower Monday, which caused minor flooding of the hall and a storage closet at the sheriff's office.

Water from the shower entered the closet and damaged electrical equipment and other criminal evidence stored in the closet.

When the sheriff gave a mop to the boy, who has been in the cell for 1.5 months awaiting transfer to a reform school for charges of burglary at Waveland Elementary School, the youth refused to use it to clean up the mess.

The sheriff pointed out stains on the wall and floor caused by the 'juvenile' prisoners throwing food in the cell.

"I am fed up with babysitting for Youth Court," Ladner said Monday.

"Youth Court has that big, beautiful building over there and we have this mess..." he continued.

"We do all the work. This is not the first time a juvenile has flooded his cell. It must have happened at least a dozen other times," he added.

"It is pitiful. I would rather fool with the worst adult convict than with one of these junior thugs," the sheriff said.

Ladner said he has no ideas for an immediate solution to the juvenile detention problems, but said he plans to take the matter up with the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

"This jail is my responsibility, and I am going to run it the way I want to from now on," Ladner said.

"I will not fight Youth Court any more. I am going to handle things my own way," he added.

Sheriff's staff takes issue with Youth Court

By RICH ADAMS

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr. and members of his staff have taken issue with Youth Court Counselor Jerry Sirbaugh concerning a recent juvenile who fled the County Jail on May 27.

Radio Dispatchers Bill Little Jr., Linda Sands, and Deputy Delbert Seay contended Monday that Sirbaugh insisted a 15-year-old youth be moved from an adult jail cell into a juvenile holding cell from which he escaped.

Ladner originally said Sirbaugh demanded the boy be taken from the adult cell and placed in a cell which was damaged in a jailbreak a week earlier.

An air conditioning vent, its cover ripped off, was used as an escape route in the earlier jailbreak and had not yet been repaired when the second juvenile squeezed through the same hole in the wall to flee the jail.

Sirbaugh said he had only informed the radio dispatchers that the boy should be moved into a juvenile holding cell, but did not insist on the relocation.

Little said he was on duty as a radio dispatcher at the time with Sands as a relief operator trainee when Sirbaugh allegedly demanded the youth be moved.

"The boy is a multiple offender, a bad egg," Little said Monday.

"There were two juveniles in the other (juvenile) cell, and we have a policy here to try and separate multiple offenders from first-time juveniles," he continued.

"Sirbaugh came into the jail about 30 minutes to an hour after the boy was placed in the adult cell and wanted to know who put him in an adult cell. I told him I did," Little said.

"Sirbaugh then said, 'The sheriff might as well get used to the idea that just because one juvenile is placed in the adult cells is not a reason to put another youth in (the adult cell);' and demanded he be moved to a juvenile cell," Little added.

The youth who had made the earlier jailbreak attempt was in the adult cell by direction of a court order.

"Jerry Sirbaugh then went to the jail, where Delbert Seay was," the radio dispatcher said.

Seay said he took the boy from the regular jail and placed him in the damaged juvenile facility.

"I was in the jail when Jerry Sirbaugh came in and said he wanted to put the boy in a juvenile cell," Seay recounted.

"I took the boy down to the office, and Mr. Little said not to place him in the cell with the other juveniles, so I put him in the damaged cell," Seay continued.

"Placing him in the damaged cell was a lot of stupidity on my part," the deputy added.

Sands said juveniles are "more trouble than regular prisoners" and interrupt work in the radio room.

She complained that at times the youths bang on the cell doors and yell obscenities so loud she cannot concentrate on the radio calls being sent and received.

Seay contributed a recent rash of juvenile offenses to an increasing population in the county, including summer residents moving in from out of town.

"Youth Court will never tell me to move another juvenile from the adult cells to here," Seay said.

Ladner said juveniles are dangerous because they are first offenders.

"Beware the first offender, because the first offender does not want to be caught," Ladner explained.

"A seasoned criminal will give up, but a first offender is losing his freedom for the first time and will fight to keep it," he added.

"My responsibility is to protect the people of the county and also to protect my workers," Ladner continued.

"I am going to start running this jail my way," the sheriff added.

Civic group to hear local candidates

Waveland Civic Association will hear August 9 primary election candidates Ronnie Peterson and John Rutherford at the association's regular meeting Thursday, June 14.

Peterson, Hancock chief deputy sheriff, is seeking the sheriff's post, and Rutherford is a candidate for reelection as Hancock Chancery Court Clerk.

Emile Malandra, association president, said the association invites any candidate for office to speak at an association meeting.

Speaking slots remain open at the June 14 meeting, and at the July 12 meeting, Malandra said. For information, call 467-9548.

The association meets at 8 p.m. at Trapani's Knock Knock Club, US-90, Waveland, the second Thursday of each month.

FESTIVAL CANDIDATES—Seeking the title of Queen of the Annunciation Barbecue Festival are, from left, Juanita Bennett, Janet Neel, and Brenda Cuevas. This year's event is being sponsored for the first time by the Father A.G. Deas Council No. 7087, Knights of Columbus, Friday, Saturday and Sunday on the church grounds in Kila.

$50,000 in arrears

Water, gas will be cut off if bills remain unpaid

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

The Bay St. Louis Council has ordered customers with delinquent bills to be "cut off" from services next month in an attempt to collect $50,000 in utility bills which remain unpaid.

"Bay St. Louis residents with delinquent utility bills as of July 15 will have services 'cut off,' Councilman James Thrifflay explains.

Councilman Harry Farve emphasizes, "I feel everyone should pay his bills, and that's all there is to it."

The council adopted a resolution at a May 8 meeting to terminate those with delinquent bills.

Thrifflay says a similar resolution was passed approximately two years ago requesting delinquent customers "pay up."

Thrifflay explains the delinquent bills, primarily caused by transient people taking advantage of the utility system, was the reason for passing the resolution.

"My gripe," the councilman noted, "is that the local people might get behind, but not that much; however, the transient people know the Utility Department refuses to cut off services, therefore they allow their bills to run up to $700 and more."

"The word gets out that the City won't cut them off, and that creates the problem," he maintained.

"The good local people," he continued, "try to pay their bills."

Some 10 percent of all customers receiving services from Bay Utilities are delinquent, Thrifflay explained. He said the services provided are mainly gas and water.

Councilman Fred Wagner says "approximately $40,000 of the arrears were left over from the previous administration."

Wagner said the council is aware that some people may have problems paying their utility bills.

"It's going to make us (council) look like the devil himself demanding payment from some elderly person who may be sick and having trouble paying his bill, or family with a baby who is ill... and other problems," Wagner states.

However, Wagner explains people who feel they are not able to pay their bill, but need the services can request a hearing before the council to explain their particular circumstances.

Thrifflay also feels the council should listen to people who feel they have a legitimate reason for not paying their bill and should be heard before the council on an "individual basis."

"Allowing people to not pay their bills is practicing bad business," Thrifflay asserted.

Thrifflay declared enforcement of the cut offs will be the responsibility of Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett.

Bond Issue...

the second school board resolution calling for a $3,711,459 bond issue election and scheduled the election August 28, but later in the meeting rescinded that action.

At the point of approval, Beat Three Supervisor Oscar Peterson moved the new bond issue election be scheduled August 28 and Beat Four Supervisor Sam Pernicaro seconded the motion followed by unanimous Board approval.

The Supervisors rescinded acceptance of the school board's resolution calling for an election, and rescinded calling the election on August 28 after the supervisors deputy clerk James Pfeiffer also found an error in that second resolution.

Supervisors stated they will delay calling the election until Board of Supervisor's attorney Walter Gex and School Board attorney Joseph Gex examine the school bond issue proposal in an attempt to insure the proposal is correct and accurate.

"We want to make sure all the I's are dotted and the T's are crossed before we call another bond issue election," Beat Two Supervisor Alton Kellar said.

Although this second bond issue proposed by the school board would have provided $11,000 less for renovations at HNC when compared to the bond issue submitted in May and scheduled to face the electorate August 7, school board officials noted finances for necessary renovations will be funded with monies from leases and other resources.

In an interview Wednesday, Hancock County Deputy Clerk James Pfeiffer denying Randolph's testimony stated, "The information obtained on the bonded indebtedness of the school system did not come from the Chancery Clerk's office."

OBITUARIES

MISS GERALDINE AMES

A visitation for Miss Geraldine Ames, 93, was Monday at the Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis.

Miss Ames, a native of Ocean Springs, died Sunday, June 3, 1979.

She was a resident of 300 North Beach Drive, Bay St. Louis and builder and owner of the A&G Theatre in Bay St. Louis.

She was a member of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

She was preceded in death by a sister, Mrs. Lillian Ames Zerr.

Mrs. Ames' funeral was 10 a.m. Tuesday at Our Lady of the Gulf.

Burial was in the St. Mary's Cemetery.

CHARLES HARVEY SR.

A visitation for retired Army Maj. Charles Edward Harvey, 86, was 7 to 10 p.m. at the Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis.

Mr. Harvey, a resident of 228 Marcus St., Waveland, and a native of New York, died Sunday, June 3, 1979, at the Keesler Air Force Base Medical Center in Biloxi.

Harvey was also a retired postal service employee.

He served in World War I and II and was a member of the American Legion Post 77 in Waveland and the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Bay St. Louis.

He was a life member of the Retired Officers Association.

His funeral was 1 p.m. Tuesday at the funeral home chapel with burial in Garden of Memories Cemetery in Bay St. Louis.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Leola Guillory Harvey of Waveland; three daughters, Mrs. Beatrice (Harvey) Pierce of Metairie, La., Mrs. Sandra (Harvey) Greziano of Baltimore, Md., and Mrs. Walter DeVille of Turkey Creek, La.; three brothers, Albert and William Harvey, both of Connecticut and Edward Harvey of New Jersey, and four grandchildren.

MRS. ELLA JOHNSON

A wake for Mrs. Ella Johnson was Tuesday from 6 until 7:45 p.m. at Mount Pilgrim Baptist Church in Long Beach, where services were conducted at 8 a.m.

A graveside service was conducted Wednesday at 10 a.m. in the Courtney Cemetery at Pass Christian.

Mrs. Johnson, 74, of 130 Church St., Long Beach, died Saturday, June 2, 1979.

A lifelong resident of Long Beach, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Lillie Harrell of Long Beach, and a brother, Richard Johnson Gulfport. Lockett's Mortuary in Gulfport was in charge of services.

DALE REMY

A visitation for Dale Joseph Remy was Tuesday from 6 until 10 p.m. at Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis.

A 10 a.m. Mass was celebrated Wednesday at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis, with burial in Cedar Rest Cemetery at Bay St. Louis.

Mr. Remy, 23, a resident of Slidell, La., drowned Sunday, June 3, 1979, off the beach near Gulf Side Methodist Assembly in Waveland.

Born in Baton Rouge, La., he worked at the snack bar at Schwemmann's in New Orleans and was a member of St. Paul Catholic Church in New Orleans. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice (Ida Belle) Remy Sr. of Slidell; a brother, Maurice Remy Jr. of New Orleans; a sister, Miss Dora Lyn Remy of Slidell; and his grandmother, Mrs. Ida Helena Crochet of Baton Rouge.

Waveland Hole...

"All we are doing is suggesting something simple: Before another drowning occurs, erect a sign. How much could that cost compared to the value of a human life," he added.

"I know the sign is bad for the city's public relations, but if it saves a life, it is worth it."

Marten's news report will include an interview with Hancock County Coroner Carl Banderei.

The hole is actually a kidney-shaped trough some 1,000 feet from shore which was dug by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers shortly after Hurricane Betsy hit the Gulf Coast, according to a local official who has participated in a number of body searches in the area.

He referred to the trough as a 'trap,' explaining that swimmers often wade out beyond the hole from a different location, walk toward the east in the water parallel to the beach, and slip into the hole as they return to the shore.

The rescuer said he believes there are three to four feet of muddy silt lining the trough which swimmers sink into and cannot escape from.

On at least one occasion, an accomplished swimmer has fallen victim to the hazard off the beach.

The Corps of Engineers filled the hole with waste material from Bayou Cadet when they dredged the bayou in 1978, but did not guarantee the material would hold in the shallow water.

The trough is estimated to go down at least seven feet at its deepest point, one source indicated.

Many signs have been erected at the site, but vandals or rough waters have damaged or destroyed the notices.

Officials have speculated some type of rip-rap may be necessary to stabilize the sides and bottom of the trough before it can be permanently filled.

Apparently, the firm natural bottom of that area was destroyed when the hole was originally dredged to create the sand beach.

except pick-up trucks and automobiles.

Beat Four Supervisor Sam Pernicaro says heavy traffic means "anything larger than a pick-up truck."

The ordinance is not clear in its regulation of heavy recreational vehicles which use the thoroughfare as access to Buccaneer Park.

Courage said deterioration of the beach road in his beat prompted both the speed-limit change and heavy traffic ban.

"I'm concerned about the safety of people who drive along that road—if the condition of the road becomes worse I may close the road to all vehicular traffic," Courage warned.

Courage said he plans to send copies of the resolution banning heavy traffic on the beach to Mississippi Governor Cliff Finch, the State Park Commissioner and other officials in an effort to attain assistance in repairing that road.

ETV AWARDS

Mississippi ETV's new language art series, "The Write Channel" with R. B. Bugg, is off to a good start. The series already has won three awards, and it hasn't even aired yet. In addition to classroom approval in testing and evaluation, three different competitions have honored the completed programs in the new 15-program series. The honors are a certificate of merit from the Chicago International Film Festival, the Broadcast Media Award from the Broadcast Industry Conference of San Francisco State University and a certificate of merit from the Southern Educational Communications Association. The series is scheduled for completion this fall in schools throughout the United States. "The Write Channel" is designed to teach the fundamentals of language development and communication. It is developed by Dr. Frank O'Hara and will emphasize the importance of language in the development of the individual.

TV REALISM
 "Scared Straight," a hard-hitting television documentary about a prison program designed to literally scare the crime right out of juvenile delinquents, can be seen at 9 p.m., Thursday, June 14, on the Mississippi ETV Network. As host, Peter Falk guides viewers through Rahway State Prison in New Jersey to witness an extraordinary program developed by a group of hardened criminals. An unlikely group of crime-fighters, these convicts, serving life sentences in the maximum security prison for murder and other major crimes, have committed themselves to helping juveniles get back on the right track. Twice each day, with the full support of the prison officials and the surrounding community, a group of juveniles enters the prison to serve a three-hour "sentence." The cameras allow viewers to join a group of 17

Hancock Vo-Tech offers health occupation study

Two health occupation courses, nurses' aide and medical terminology, are being offered by the Pearl River Junior College, Hancock County Vo-Tech Center, in cooperation with Hancock General Hospital.

The nursing aide course is 240 hours in length. Students will attend training four hours each evening Monday thru Friday at Hancock General Hospital for twelve weeks.

Certificates of proficiency will be awarded to graduates. In order to qualify to enter the medical field as a nurse aide or orderly, an individual must complete this basic 240 hour course.

Presently there are employment opportunities available in those fields.

Registration for the nurse aide course will be 10 a.m. Wednesday, June 13, at the hospital.

A minimum of ten students must register in order for the course to be approved. A maximum of 15 students will be accepted.

All applicants for the course must meet the following requirements:

1. Be at least 18 years of age.
2. Have at least an eighth grade education.
3. Pass an aptitude test administered by the State Employment Service.
4. Be in good physical health.
5. Pay a $30 fee plus cost of textbook.

The medical terminology course is a 42 hour course. Students will attend class three and one-half hours, one night per week for a total of 12 weeks at the Hancock Vo-Tech Center.

This course will survey thousands of medical words built from Greek and Latin prefixes, suffixes, word roots and combined forms.

The course will present terms related to all areas of medical science, hospital service, and paramedical specialties.

The course is open to any employee of the medical field who has a need of recognizing and understanding medical terms.

The course is designed especially for medical secretaries, insurance clerks, etc.

Registration for the medical terminology course will be 7 p.m. Wednesday, June 20, at the Hancock County Vo-Tech Center.

A minimum of ten students must register for the course also.

Medical terminology course fee is $10.00 plus the cost of the textbook.

For further information, call the PRJC Hancock County Vo-Tech Center at 467-3568.

Heritage III to include historically important J.F.H. Claiborne documents

By JOE PILET

The centennial address given on July 4, 1878 in Bay St. Louis by the Honorable J. F. H. Claiborne will be reproduced in its entirety in the Heritage III edition of the Echo which is scheduled for publication on June 24.

Claiborne was born April 24, 1807, in Natchez. His parents were General Ferdinand L. Claiborne and his wife, a daughter of Col. Anthony Hutchins.

Claiborne distinguished himself as an editor, Congressman, and a major historian, his efforts including such works as "Mississippi As A Province, Territory and State."

He won acclaim as one of the greatest State historians during his colorful and many-faceted life.

The Saucier-Claiborne plantation home located on Mulatto Bayou has been carefully researched and painted by local artist Nell Ducomb. A likeness of this home together with its history will be reproduced in Heritage III.

The only known existing photograph of Claiborne will also be reproduced in Heritage III.

We are indebted to Claiborne as founder of the Mississippi Historical Society. The Evening Post of New York, when edited by William Cullen Bryant in 1837, said of him: "The cause of humanity and equal rights has gained an able advocate in the Honorable Mr. Claiborne of Mississippi."

Your Heritage III edition will be filled with the Mississippi Department of Archives and History, and should prove invaluable to students of Mississippi History.

Plans shaped for coping with oil-fouled birdlife

Several federal agencies headquartered at NSL in Hancock County, the Gulf Coast Audubon Society and Gulf Coast Research Laboratories in Ocean Springs are involved in elaborate planning underway to cope with water fowl affected by potential oil spills on the Mississippi coast.

Dr. Edwin W. Calk Jr. of the Mississippi Coast Audubon Society and GCRL staff researcher is taking the lead in developing a contingency plan for rehabilitating "oiled" birds on the coast, according to the June issue of "Marine Briefs," GCRL's monthly newsletter.

Waterfowl, especially migratory ducks and wintering seabirds, are seriously affected by oil which has been spilled in the natural environment and are referred to as "oil-fouled."

They usually die unless captured and treated. The oil must be carefully removed and the birds cared for until they recover from the trauma.

Audubon Society members and other interested coastians learned what they can do about the plight of oil-fouled birds during a recent conference jointly sponsored by the Audubon Society and the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in May on the main campus of the Laboratory in Ocean Springs.

"Birds affected by oil are one of the most visible aspects of an oil spill something the public feels they should do something about," stated Larry Thompson of Charleston, SC, southeast regional representative of the National Audubon Society.

Frequently, the most concerned laymen do not have the expertise to successfully rehabilitate these birds. They may do more harm than good and may break the law unless they have a federal bird banding permit.

Cooperating with federal and state agencies, the National Audubon Society has organized a team of experts who are capable of handling oil-fouled birds on the Mississippi coast.

laws setting strict safety regulations on oil transporters and making those who spill oil liable for damages.

Calk and others will be drawing up a local contingency plan, which will name the individuals responsible for different tasks and set forth procedures to follow in the event of an oil spill crisis.

Cleaning stations and holding facilities will be designated and required supplies will be secured and maintained.

As advance preparation, a small group of people will be trained by members of the Mobile Audubon Chapter in the proper field retrieval, medical treatment, cleaning and rehabilitation procedures to use on oiled birds.

Those trained personnel will supervise other volunteers when needed in an emergency.

Several governmental agencies and groups are involved in providing oil spill response at the local, state and national levels.

At the top, helping to set national policy, is the President's Commission on Environmental Quality.

The National Response Team (NRT) consists of heads of federal departments and agencies having the resources of manpower, expertise and equipment needed to make a response; the Regional Response Team consists of NRT counterparts on the regional level plus representatives of state agencies with similar resources.

Field response coordinators are personnel on the scene who must assess the situation.

Each coordinator has an on-scene coordinator responsible for managing all activities and making decisions.

Wayne Johnson, oil spill coordinator, USF&WS, Atlanta, emphasized that federal and state agencies needed along the north central Gulf Coast, the captains of the ports of Mobile and New Orleans are the on-scene coordinators and they each have a portion of the Mississippi coastline.

The Gulf Strike Team of the U.S. Coast Guard National Strike Force, established for this purpose, may be called upon by the on-scene coordinator to assist with the cleanup.

That team is located at the National Space Technology Laboratories (NSTL) near Bay St. Louis and consists of 25 men specially trained in pollution abatement procedures and cleanup methods.

They have equipment designed for this purpose, states Lcdr. James T. Faskewich, commander.

The Coast Guard in coastal areas (south of Interstate Highway 10) and the Environmental Protection Agency in inland areas (north of I-10) have primary authority for the federal government for overseeing cleanup of large oil spills.

They are provided information on biological resources, including endangered species, and on critical habitat by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USF&WS) and by National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration scientific support teams such as the one at NSTL.

John Schroer of Gautier, manager of the Mississippi Sandhill Crane National Wildlife Refuge in Jackson County, is the USF&WS field response coordinator and will coordinate the rehabilitation of oiled birds on the Mississippi coast.

Senior job center opens

A senior citizens job registry has been established in the Hancock County Community Center, providing free employment service to persons 55 and older.

Funded by the U.S. Department of Labor through the Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District, the job registry is a community service of the National Council of Senior Citizens Senior Aide Program.

The Waveland office is open from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Monday through Friday at its Coleman Avenue location.

"We need your fund of skills and experience in all fields," said Eve McDonald, SMPDD representative. She said the job center will be seeking carpenters, sitters, office workers, painters, nurses aides and others.

"You may need to supplement your income, so don't let your valuable assets go to waste," McDonald urged.

FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF MISSISSIPPI
IN THE MATTER OF THE ADJUSTMENT OF DEBT OF THE CITY OF BAY ST. LOUIS, MISSISSIPPI, UNDER CHAPTER IX, TITLE 11 USC
CIVIL ACTION NO. 79-1005 (N)
NOTICE TO CREDITORS OF THE CITY OF BAY ST. LOUIS, HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI
You are hereby notified that: The City of Bay St. Louis, Hancock County, Mississippi, (Petitioner) has filed a petition on the 4th day of April, 1979, seeking relief under Chapter IX of the Bankruptcy Act. The sole and only creditor of the petitioner whose claim is disputed is Charles Morris, Administrator of the Estate of Jimmy Ray Warner, II, in the principal amount of Three Hundred, Seventy-Five Thousand Dollars ($375,000.00) accruing to him as a result of the judgment rendered in favor of the deceased in the United States District Court, Southern Division of the Southern District, Civil action 573-232 (N) on the Docket of said Court.

Petitioner has sought relief under Chapter IX of the Bankruptcy Act because it has reasonable cause to believe that Charles Morris, Administrator of the Estate of Jimmy Ray Warner, II, might attempt to obtain payment of his claim against petitioner in preference to its other creditors. If the plan for adjustment of the debt of Charles Morris, Administrator of the estate of Jimmy Ray Warner, II, as finally approved by the Court affects the rights of creditors of petitioner, other than said administrator, said creditors will be notified.

Notice to the Qualified Electors of the City of Bay St. Louis:
The following RESOLUTION was duly adopted at the May 22, 1979, regular meeting of the governing authorities of the City of Bay St. Louis:

RESOLUTION AND ORDER OF THE GOVERNING AUTHORITIES OF THE CITY OF BAY ST. LOUIS, MISSISSIPPI, DECLARING THE INTENTION OF THE CITY OF BAY ST. LOUIS TO ISSUE BONDS OR CERTIFICATES OF INDEBTEDNESS IN THE PRINCIPAL AMOUNT OF NOT TO EXCEED FOUR HUNDRED SIXTY-ONE THOUSAND ($461,000.00) DOLLARS FOR THE PURPOSE OF SATISFYING A JUDGMENT AND LEGAL OBLIGATIONS ARISING THEREFROM OF THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF MISSISSIPPI, IN A CAUSE STYLED "CHARLES E. MORRIS, ADMINISTRATOR, ESTATE OF JIMMY RAY WARNER, II, VERSUS CITY OF BAY ST. LOUIS," IMPOSING A TAX OF ONE-HALF OF ONE PERCENT (1/2 PERCENT) UPON ALL SALES AND SERVICES WITHIN THE CITY OF BAY ST. LOUIS WHICH BEARS A FIVE PERCENT (5 PERCENT) STATE SALES TAX, AND ALL PERCENTAGE OF SUCH TAX, IN THE EVENT OF SUCH TAX, PROVIDING FOR ELECTION ON THE QUESTION OF THE ISSUANCE OF SUCH OBLIGATIONS AND IMPOSITION OF SUCH TAX IN THE EVENT OF SUCH TAX IN THE EVENT THAT TWENTY PERCENT (20 PERCENT) OF THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF SUCH CITY SHALL FILE A WRITTEN PROTEST THEREON ON OR BEFORE SUCH DATE: AND FOR RELATED PURPOSES.

WHEREAS, the United States District Court for the Southern Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, Southern Division, in the sum of $461,000.00, has rendered a judgment in favor of Charles E. Morris, Administrator, Estate of Jimmy Ray Warner, II, v. The City of Bay St. Louis, a Minor, v. The City of Bay St. Louis, a Municipal Corporation, Civil Action No. 783-234 (N), which cause was subsequently revived in the name of "Charles E. Morris, Administrator, Estate of Jimmy Ray Warner, II, v. City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi;" and

WHEREAS, the City was unable to pay such judgment and accrued interest on the 4th day of April, 1979, that a writ of execution was issued by the United States District Court for the Southern Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, Southern Division, pursuant to Title 11, USC, section 401, Chapter IX of the Bankruptcy Act, in a cause styled "In the Matter of the Adjustment of Debt of the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, Under Chapter IX, Title 11, USC," Number 79-1005 (N) on the docket of such Court; and

WHEREAS, the City was authorized by HB 1402, Regular Session of the 1979 Mississippi Legislature, to issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness to pay such judgment and accrued interest and such obligations shall not be issued and such tax shall not be imposed unless authorized by a majority vote of the qualified electors of such municipality voting at an election to be called and held for that purpose. If no such protest shall be filed on or before such date and this City shall be authorized to take further action to issue such obligations and levy such tax without the necessity of calling an election on such question.

Session of the Mississippi Legislature and propose to issue such Bonds, Notes or Certificates of Indebtedness in a sum not to exceed $461,000, to mature in not more than ten (10) years and to bear a rate of interest at not more than seven percent (7 percent) for the purpose of satisfying such judgment and legal obligations arising therefrom and to impose such tax, and such Court acting through the Honorable Walter Nixson, United States District Judge, approved such plan on the 1st day of May, 1979; and

WHEREAS, pursuant to the provision of HB 1402 Regular Session of the 1979 Mississippi Legislature, the City of Bay St. Louis is now authorized to implement such plan and to declare its intention to issue such Bonds, Notes or Certificates of Indebtedness and impose such tax; and

WHEREAS, the City finds that it would be in the public interest to implement such plan and to issue such obligations and impose such tax;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE GOVERNING AUTHORITIES OF THE CITY OF BAY ST. LOUIS AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. The City of Bay St. Louis, pursuant to HB 1402, Regular Session of the 1979 Mississippi Legislature, hereby declares its intention to issue its Bonds, Notes or Certificates of Indebtedness dated July 1, 1979, in the principal sum not to exceed Four Hundred and Sixty-One Thousand ($461,000.00) Dollars, maturing in not more than ten (10) years, at a rate of interest, payable semi-annually at not more than seven (7 percent) percent per annum, for the purpose of satisfying the judgment and legal obligations hereinabove referred to and to implement such plan.

SECTION 2. For the purpose of paying the principal and interest upon the Bonds, Notes or Certificates of Indebtedness referred to in Section 1 of this Resolution, the City hereby declares its intention to levy a special tax of one-half of one percent (1/2 of 1 percent) upon all sales or services within the City of Bay St. Louis which are subject to the Mississippi Sales Tax of Five (5 percent) percent, and to continue such tax in force and effect until they shall have accumulated from the proceeds of such tax and investment thereof, sufficient funds to pay the principal and interest of such Bonds, as it matures and accrues, at which time, the imposition of such tax shall be terminated as provided by HB 1402, Regular Session of the 1979 Mississippi Legislature.

SECTION 3. Such tax shall be imposed and collected in the same manner as the State of Mississippi Sales Tax imposed by Title 27, Chapter 26, Mississippi Code of 1972, and all provisions of such title applicable to the filing of returns, discounts to the taxpayer, refund claims to the State Tax Commission, enforcement of collections, rights of taxpayers, recovery of overpayments, refunds of overpaid taxes or other provision for imposition and collection of the five percent (5 percent) sales tax shall apply to such tax.

SECTION 4. Such tax will be imposed on the first day of the month following the entry of a Decree in the Chancery Court of Hancock County, Mississippi, validating the issuance and sale of such Bonds, Notes, or Certificates of Indebtedness, and confirmation of such plan by the United States District Court for the Southern District of Mississippi, Southern Division.

SECTION 5. The City Clerk is authorized and directed to cause a true copy of this Resolution and Order to be published in the "Sea Coast Echo" or any other newspaper having a general circulation within the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, once each week for three (3) weeks not less than 21 days nor more than sixty (60) days intervening between the time of the first notice and the date which the City proposes to levy such tax and issue such obligations.

SECTION 6. The date for taking further action to impose such tax, to issue such obligations, and to receive written protests, if any, is hereby fixed at 7:00 p.m. the 15th day of June, 1979. If, on or before such date and time, there shall be filed in the office of the Clerk of the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, written protests to the issuance of such Bonds, Notes or Certificates of Indebtedness and the

PITCH, HIT & RUN

Pass semi-pro football team names coaches, slates tryouts

Coaches were named last weekend following tryouts for the Biloxi Buccaneers, a semi-pro football team which is a member of the Dixie Professional Football League.

Tryouts were conducted Saturday at Pass Christian in an attempt to sign players to fill the fifty-man roster.

Twenty-one players signed letters of intent at the tryouts, bringing the Bucs to a present number of thirty-eight players signed.

Should the squad exceed the fifty-man limit, players will be cut before the final roster is sent in to League officials.

Jim "Eops" Bilion has been named as head coach for the Buccaneers. A former Tulane stand-out in the late forties, Bilion has experience as a high school football coach for the Buccaneers. A former Tulane stand-out in the late forties, Bilion has experience as a high school football coach in New Orleans and has head coaching experience in semi-football for the C&H Blackhaws.

Bilion was pleased with the tryouts and said he is looking forward to the upcoming season on the Gulf Coast.

"The numbers were a little smaller than I had hoped for," said Bilion, "but there were a few players that I was really impressed with.

"Over all it was a successful tryout. Now we are just looking forward to starting practices so we can prepare for our season opener with Birmingham," he added.

Helping Bilion will be assistant coach Percy "Yogi" McKay. McKay has been involved in semi-pro football in the past in Louisville, Kentucky as both a player and coach, as well as coaching military ball in Swankert, Germany.

McKay will be line coach for the Buccaneers.

"The enthusiasm was very good with the players that I was involved with," said

McKay, "but there is definitely a need for more offensive and defensive linemen."

The Buccaneers are still lining up an assistant coach to handle the backfield, but that position still remains open at this time.

Open practice sessions have been set for 1:00 p.m. each Saturday at the Pass Christian Recreation Park on Fleitas Drive in Pass Christian.

Players still interested in trying out for positions on the roster can apply one-half hour before the practice session at the field or contact the Biloxi Buccaneers, P.O. Box 541, Pass Christian, Ms. 39571.

PH&R winners move to district contest

The road to an appearance at baseball's All-Star game may be a long one, but a big hurdle on the way has been cleared by four Bay St. Louis youngsters as local winners of Major League Baseball's Pitch, Hit, and Run competition.

Monty Strong, 9; Stephen Davis, 10; Jeff Smith, 11; and Kenny Sharp, 12, were local winners recently in the competition directed by the Parks and Playgrounds Commission.

The four champions were among 70 area youngsters ages 9-12, who tested their skills in three categories: pitching at a target; running the bases for speed; and hitting distance.

The local competition was directed by Parks and Playgrounds Director Billy Rhodes at Bay High Tiger Park.

PH&R is co-sponsored by Burger King restaurants and the National Recreation and Park Association, and developed in cooperation with the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports. Local runners-up, who received special recognition plaques from PH&R were: David Peterson, 9; Scottie Duprey, 10; Matt Fairconnetue, 11; and Ronnie Artigues, 12.

Bay St. Louis
Little League Baseball

MERCHANT'S BANK 8-RIEMAN FAHEY 4

Merchant's Bank won the first half of the Bay St. Louis Little League competition as Craig Breland pitched his fifth mound win against no losses.

Jimmy and Jerry Head picked up two hits each for the victors. David Hedgewood and Timmy Adams each had one hit for Merchant's. Riemann had two hits, one by Matt Fairconnetue and another by Andy Grass.

AMERICAN LEGION 9-HANCOCK BANK 2

Mike Seuzeneau was the winning pitcher and supplied power at the mound as he went two-for-three at the plate. Rod Morrison, Bryan Laneau, Richard Whavers, Randy Carver, and Robert Peranich each had one hit for the winning team. Jeff Smith and Kenney Moran each hit three times for Hancock Bank, assisted by one hit each from Jay Gini and Ronnie Artigues.

GULF NATIONAL 10-EDMOND FAHEY 0

Lawrence Favre was the winning pitcher in the shutout as Vince Elchos, Ken Veazy, and Amadea Collins recorded one hit each for Gulf National. Pernel Galloway went two-for-two for Edmond Fahey, along with singles by Mark Gonzales, Howard Ladner, and Destin Brady.

AMERICAN LEGION 12-MERCHANT'S BANK 7

Legion handed Merchant's their first loss of the season to mark their perfect slate for the first half of the year. Winning pitcher Mark Seuzeneau also hit three-for-three at the plate, along with Rod Morris, who had two hits, and Shane Fielder, Terri Rhodes, and Bryan Laneau with one hit each. Merchant's hitters were Timmy Adams and Kris Geroux with two hits each, Jimmy Head, Jerry Head, David Hedgewood, and Shane Carr with one hit apiece.

BOATING TOPICS

by Bob Brewster
MERCRUISER OUTDOOR CONSULTANT

To enhance both the pleasure and safety of operating your boat, consider installing additional instruments on the dashboard.

You can find quite a variety of instruments at marine dealerships. And each one can impart some very useful information.

Before installing a new instrument, do read the instructions carefully. The Mercruiser stern drive boating authorities warn that each type of instrument tends to have its own peculiarities.

If not properly installed, it can give incorrect readings. Compasses, for example, are sensitive to steel cores inside the rims of molded plastic steering wheels.

The pickup tubes of speedometers tend to be sensitive to variations in water pressure or flow caused by being too close to propellers, or directly behind strips molded into boat bottoms. Few people realize it, but the many small strands in electrical wire enable it to act much like a candle wick!

If one end of a wire is in a place where it is immersed in bilge water or receives a lot of spray, it can actually draw water into the vitals of an electrically operated instrument.

So, follow instructions! Before making a hole in a dashboard, look behind and make sure there is space to accommodate the instrument and that you won't foul any wires or cables already there.

Striped bass fishing becoming popular

Striped bass fishing is not something new in Mississippi anymore. Since the early 1970s state anglers increasingly have turned their attention to the savage action of these big fish. A 27-pound 6-ounce striper has been declared a state record fish. While some anglers are experimenting with novel techniques for catching these hefty fighters, others are fishing the spillways and lakes where they know a new record fish can be found.

Early spring is a good time to catch striped bass on Ross Barnett Reservoir, above Jackson. Here in 1978 the state record was caught. Regular fishermen there believe some stripers lying near the bottom out from the riprap may weigh well in excess of 30 pounds.

Although Barnett's main body contains stripers, the reservoir's spillway is where the action is. Anglers find the roving fish feeding on pockys of shad or other bait fish.

Many are caught in the boiling water dropping over spillway locks. Only three stripers per day are permitted and each must measure at least 15 inches.

Large yellow and green bucktail jigs are standard lures. Strippers have a hard mouth so hooks must be sharp. Basic tackle varies from conventional bass rods and reels to 13-foot surf casting outfits. At least 15-pound test line is needed to permit long casts with enough strength to deal with big fish.

Although Sardinia and Grenada Reservoirs, along with lakes Bogue, Horna, Oktibbeha, and Mary, all have striped-bass fishing, Oktibbeha Reservoir north of Meridian is probably the next best place to catch a big one.

Oktibbeha fishermen are catching them with all sorts of lure variations. Some anglers are taking old devil's horse lures, painting them white, adding extra weight and enjoying all but the last set of treble hooks, and discovering the contraption catches fish.

While many stripers there are caught incidental to a largemouth bass fishing, many anglers prefer to fish during calmer periods of early morning and late evening.

They watch the surface carefully and head for schools of feeding stripers. The action is usually fast and furious and lasts only about a minute before the fish surface in a different area. Multi-colored jigs and Buck's Back-striped minnow are good lure.

Encouraged by the good growth of Oktibbea's striped bass population, anglers are taking fish consistently that weight 8 to 10 pounds, something few fishermen ever imagined would happen. Now, they say, it's getting better each year.

Fish may be record catch

Some might say that either Mississippi fishermen are getting smarter, or the fish are getting bigger. Whichever, some state anglers are out of this season to get big ones.

William C. Mulvihill of Greenwood recently registered a five-pound, six-ounce white bass with the state Game and Fish Commission, and found that not only was it a new state record, but possibly a world's record.

Officials are checking with the National Fresh Water Fishing Hall of Fame and the International Game Fish Association.

More wet weather promised for already-soaked farmland

MISSISSIPPI STATE—Mississippi farmers can expect more wet weather and near normal temperatures into mid-June, according to the National Weather Service Outlook distributed by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Usually the state receives about 3.5 to 4.5 inches of rain during this four-week period. Afternoon temperatures normally reach the upper 80's and mid 90's are seen occasionally.

Farmers waiting for ground dry enough to use equipment may have to shift management practices by concentrating more on planting and less on seedbed preparation, say agrometeorologists at the Environmental Studies Service Center in Stoneville, who prepare the forecasts.

Wet weather will limit days suitable for field work. Shorter season varieties of cotton and rice will probably be planted.

Showers will frequently interrupt haying and wheat harvest. To reduce spoilage, cattlemen should check five-day forecasts before mowing hay. Pastures will continue to grow well.

Wet weather has increased weed growth on neglected fields. Tougher control measures will be needed if weeds continue unchecked. Heat stress on six-to eight-week old broilers will become an increasing problem, say weather experts. Poultry producers should check on flocks often on upcoming hot afternoons.

ASCS Reports

Grain storage loans available

The Hancock County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee reminds farmers that funds are available to buy, build, or remodel on-farm storage facilities and to get the drying and handling equipment they need.

Under the farm facility loan program, farmers can borrow up to $50,000 on structures adequate to store two years' crops, with 15 percent down, and 10.5 percent interest.

They can build conventional type on-farm storage structures such as steel bins, wooden granaries, and wet storage facilities.

Loans are also available to build high-moisture storage and silage storage space. "We have helped several Pearl River and Hancock County farmers obtain almost 9700 bushels of on-farm storage space in the last two years," Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director said.

Experiencing record-breaking activity last year, the program played a major role in helping to improve market prices. According to Gennin, farm facility loans to local producers totaled $60,246 last year, and represented 52052 bushels of storage space.

In 1977, loan disbursement totaled $41,686, and represented a 42650 bushel storage capacity. Capacity figures do not include loans made for high moisture storage and silage facilities.

"Farmers who have adequate on-farm storage and drying facilities have greater crop handling and marketing flexibility at harvest time," Gennin said. In years of overabundance, they can store crops in good condition until prices rise.

To be eligible for farm facility loans, producers must grow one or more crops of barley, corn, dry edible beans, flaxseed, grain sorghum, oats, peanuts, rice, rye, soybeans, sunflower seed, wheat and high-moisture storage.

The ASCS official said borrowers must provide adequate security to protect the Commodity Credit Corporation's interest. The program provides for an eight-year repayment term. Additional information on grain storage loans may be obtained from the local ASCS office.

ANIMAL WASTE CONTROL
There has been a growing concern for the quality of the Nation's water supply. It is being threatened by not only one, but two areas of pollution: Point and non-point sources of pollution. Gennin stressed that point pollution originates primarily from industrial and municipal waste systems and non-point originates on farm, forests, etc.

"One of these non-point sources has been further identified as agricultural waste and chemical run-off," he added. Under provisions of the 1979 Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP), animal waste control practices have been designed to provide facilities for the storage and handling of livestock and poultry waste and the control of surface run-off water, for areas on farmland where animal waste constitutes a significant pollution hazard.

"ASCS has been involved in helping solve non-point agricultural pollution for a number of years," Gennin said. Presently 28 demonstration projects to improve water quality are being funded by the ACP in 24 states.

Gennin continued, "Each county, however, has established a priority of practices reflecting this need for conservation and is making available cost-sharing assistance for storage and diversion facilities that will contribute significantly to maintaining or improving the soil or water quality."

Requests may be filed, and additional information obtained from the local ASCS office at 103 West Cumberland Street, Poplarville, telephone number (601) 795-4932.

TRAIN LIBRARIANS

Library media specialists from throughout Mississippi will spend two weeks at The University of Mississippi this summer, learning to identify and locate educational materials designed to help handicapped students. Under federal law, handicapped students are being taught along with other students in traditional Mississippi classrooms. The July 30-Aug. 10 institute at Ole Miss will help librarians provide necessary individualized instruction for these students, according to Dr. Myra Macon of the University's Graduate School of Library and Information Science and institute director.

RESEARCH AWARD

Dr. William Lundstrom has been named Outstanding Researcher in The University of Mississippi School of Business Administration for 1979.

MRS. DUKE RE-ELECTED—Mrs. Elda Duke, 222 Marcus, Waveland, had been re-elected to the Board of Directors of the Mississippi Lung Association. Mrs. Duke will serve on the twenty-seven member Board to direct program and policy of the Christmas Seal voluntary health organization's crusade to prevent and control lung and respiratory diseases in Mississippi. Mrs. Duke also serves as chairman and campaign chairman for the Hancock County Lung Chapter. Pictured at the recently held 67th annual MLA meeting in Jackson, Mrs. Duke is recognized state-wide for dedication to programs of "life and breath."

YOUR ELECTRIC SERVICE AND SUMMERTIME BILLS

Here in Southeast Mississippi, we are approaching the season of the year when the use of electricity sharply increases and electric service bills rise significantly. When the weather heats up, air conditioning is used for comfort; refrigerators and freezers run longer. On average, the residential customer of Mississippi Power Company uses about twice as much electricity in mid-summer as in April, as figures in the table below indicate.

	1978		1977		1976
	Average Residential KWH Billed	Percent KWH Increase Over April	Average Residential KWH Billed	Percent KWH Increase Over April	Average Residential KWH Billed	Percent KWH Increase Over April
April	651 KWH		621 KWH		596 KWH
May	623 KWH	(4.3%)	650 KWH	4.7%	623 KWH	4.5%
June	952 KWH	46.2%	936 KWH	50.7%	735 KWH	23.3%
July	1,325 KWH	103.5%	1,368 KWH	120.3%	1,100 KWH	84.6%
August	1,307 KWH	100.8%	1,325 KWH	113.4%	1,264 KWH	112.1%
September	1,268 KWH	94.8%	1,209 KWH	94.7%	1,211 KWH	103.2%

Even though the average cost per kilowatt-hour of residential electric service to our customers was only 2.7 percent more in 1978 than in 1977, that cost has risen considerably over the last six years. This rise has been due to general inflation, a staggering increase in fuel prices, and expenses required to comply with Federal environmental laws and regulations. Unfortunately, these outside pressures are still with us, and electric service costs will have to reflect the economic realities of our times.

These facts prompt us once again to urge our customers to use electricity as efficiently as possible, particularly during the hot summer months ahead. The wise use of electricity not only conserves our precious fuel resources but also helps you save money on electric bills.

Every time you switch on an appliance or the thermostat turns it on, our power plants burn more fuel and produce additional electricity which flows to that appliance and makes it operate. The decision to use our electric service is yours — we have to respond.

To help you get the most value for your money, we have placed Energy Information Centers in our business offices. These displays contain brochures and pamphlets on a variety of subjects including the wise use of electricity, the correct way to read an electric meter, fuel costs, and the energy efficient heat pump. These publications are available free of charge, and we invite you to pick up a copy of one or more booklets. We believe this material is informative and helpful.

You may wish to take advantage of our home energy inspection program. For a small service fee, a specially-trained company representative will come to your home, measure square footage, inspect insulation, and gather other information. This data is telephoned into a central computer programmed to take into account such factors as construction techniques, climate, and rate of inflation. The result is a personalized analysis of energy-saving home improvements with an estimate of what each improvement will cost and the number of years required for payback.

Mississippi Power Company has plenty of generating capacity, but we don't want you to buy a kilowatt-hour more than you need. Please use our service as efficiently as possible.

We appreciate your business, and nothing concerns us more than to see the cost of our service increase. We pledge our total efforts to continue serving you courteously and efficiently and to search for every means of keeping the cost of our service as low as possible.

SEA COAST ECHO-THURSDAY, JUNE 7, 1979-3C

By S. Grady Thigpen

Visit to boyhood home brings surge of memory

I recently visited the old farm at Lake Como, Jasper County, Mississippi where I was born and grew up to about 15 years of age.

Though I knew every foot of ground in the general area in 1900, I now hardly knew where I was. There was almost complete change.

Where buildings, fences, barns, orchards were in the old days, there was open pasture with cattle grazing. Looking carefully about, I identified the site of my childhood home when I saw the old oak trees still there that stood in the front yard when I grew up.

As I leaped against one of the old oaks on that hot summer day and surveyed the pasture that was once my father's farm, and our home, I felt a spirit of dreamy musing come over me.

Suddenly, where I had just seen open pasture and cattle grazing, I seemed to see before me the old place as it was 75 years ago when I was a boy.

Boyhood memories, dormant for 70 years and more, began to parade before me. In my dreamy state I saw the old square-built house with the roof slanting upward on four sides to a point at the top through which the old time fireplace chimney arose.

I saw the big porches on the front and north sides of the house which had been kept cool, comfortable and inviting on hot summer days by the shade from the big oaks.

Feasting on my surprising peek into the distant past, I looked around, and saw in my imagination the neat picket fence which had enclosed the place.

In my flight of fancy, I stood again before the hot fire in one of the old fireplaces, playing with my brother and sisters on a cold winter day.

As this scene faded away, I looked to my left across the picket fence into the adjoining stock lot.

Where there had been nothing but open pasture with stock grazing a few minutes before, I then saw plainly the old covered well with rope and pulley as if someone had just been drawing water.

I saw the old time wash pot, the battling block, and the wood tubs where our home laundry was done every Monday morning.

Nearby was the old tool shed, the wagon and buggy in one end, and the plows and small tools, along with the grinding stone in the other end. As a boy I played there, and in the loft and on the roof.

Looking still further to the left I seemed to see the old time log barn with stalls around it, cribs in the center, and a big hay loft in the top. There were vivid recollections of happy hours as I stood there looking.

I remembered the corn cob fights with other boys around, in and over this old barn. I saw my secret hiding place in one end of the hay loft, and felt a strong urge to go and see if my old treasures were still hidden there.

There, I had kept my boyhood secret belongings, mostly things of no value to grown ups but cherished by small boys.

Looking still further to the left and to the east of the old barn was my mother's highly prized garden.

For a second I came back to reality and saw cows grazing there. Immediately returning to my visionary state, I thought to myself, "My Mother would not like that."

To my right and to the south side of where the house had stood, I looked for the big fig trees, my mother's pride and for the pear trees, and the peach orchard and saw all laden with fruit as in the old days, ready to be picked.

Looking some distance to the east in my flight of fancy, I saw the woodland where we got wood for the fireplace and to get wild grapes, mayhaws, scaly barks, hickory nuts, huckleberries, chinquapins. It was in this wooded area where I hunted rabbits, shot squirrels and possums in the wild persimmon trees along and just back from the fences.

How long my nostalgic visit into the past lasted, I do not know. It was so absorbingly interesting that I remember I resisted a return to reality.

I looked further to the east, and saw plainly the path through the woods that led to Partridge Creek, a small creek but we boys found a swimming hole big enough for small boys.

As I turned to leave what is most likely my last mortal view of what was once my happy boyhood home, I reverted back to my reverie for a few seconds to see my Mother, as she was in 1900, beautiful, poised, a characteristically wistful, motherly smile on her face as she seemed to say "Goodbye."

THIRTY KNOTS IN THE GULF—Cutting through the Gulf of Mexico is the Navy's newest destroyer, the Nicholson (DD-362). The sleek, gas-turbine powered ship was commissioned in traditional naval ceremonies Saturday, May 12, at Ingalls Shipbuilding division of Litton Industries in Pascagoula, Miss., the twentieth of thirty Spruance-Class multi-mission destroyers to be delivered to the Navy by Ingalls. Commander Wesley E. Jordan of Richmond, Va., will assume command of the 563-foot, 7,000-ton destroyer.

Health agency oks SMRC construction

The Mississippi Health Systems Agency's Board of Directors met Thursday, May 24, to review project and facility health care applications.

Before being presented to the MHSA Board, these applications go through various review stages from staff review and analysis to the community level in which the application is located to the designated review committee.

Comments and recommendations from each of these reviews are presented to the Board members as part of their deliberation.

Recommended for approval for this area was:

—Saraland Development Corp. of Gulfport, that requested an Urban Health Initiative Planning Grant to plan and develop a primary health care system for Harrison County;

—South Central Mississippi Rural Health Association, Inc. of Mendenhall requested a continuation Rural Health Initiative Grant for Lawrence, Jeff Davis, and Simpson Counties; and —a Certificate of Need for phase III construction, equipping, and operation of two buildings for the South Mississippi Retardation Center in Long Beach.

Generic Grocery Products Offer Shoppers Savings

MISSISSIPPI STATE — The growing appeal of generic grocery products across the country has become one of the big marketing surprises, says Ann O. Rushing, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service marketing specialist.

A recent nation-wide survey of 1,000 consumers found that 62 percent of all Americans are currently aware of generics.

According to the study, which was conducted by Consumer Response Corporation, a New York-based marketing research firm, almost all consumers (93 percent) who have bought generic products report they are satisfied. In addition, 86 percent of current buyers have expressed interest in purchasing generic products again.

More than 80 percent of generic purchases have been food products. Vegetables are the most frequently purchased item, followed by fruits, says Mrs. Rushing.

Consumer awareness of generics increases with an individual's education, income and occupational status. Awareness and belief in the local availability of generics vary widely by geographic location and population density.

Consumers from the Northeast are most knowledgeable about generics, followed by those in the western and central parts of the country. Awareness is also higher among residents of larger cities, she says.

Despite the recent introduction, and the fact that generics are not yet available in all areas, they are becoming a factor to consider in the food industry.

"Mississippi consumers are reacting favorably to generics, too," says Mrs. Rushing. "These products couldn't have come along at a better time. With higher food prices, they offer some saving advantage."

CONSERVATION WORKSHOP

Northeast Mississippi school teachers can spend two weeks this summer learning latest information on conservation practices at The University of Mississippi Tupelo Regional Campus.

Professional foresters, biologists, geologists, conservationists and members of the Ole Miss staff will present lectures, lead field trips and discuss current conservation techniques with students enrolled in Environmental Education Workshop (EDCI 561). Classes will meet from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, July 9-20. Enrollment is limited to teachers of grades 1-12 during 1979; and three hours of graduate credit can be earned. Deadline for applications is June 11.

EDUCATION WORKSHOP

The fourth annual Economic Education Workshop for elementary and secondary school administrators, teachers and university students will be held at The University of Mississippi July 10-27.

The Butcher Shop

with supermarket prices.

ADVERTISED ITEM POLICY

Each of these advertised items is required to be readily available for sale at or below the advertised price in each A&P Store, except as specifically noted in this ad.

How much do you need? Ask the man who knows.

You're going to have some questions about meat. No matter how many years you've been shopping and cooking.

Your A&P Butcher Shop manager is a meat expert. He'll be happy to talk to you about the right cut for your favorite recipe. Or how many pounds it takes to feed eight people. And he'll gladly cut something you don't see in the meat case.

It's even better than an old-fashioned butcher shop.

Because the meat is our meat.

And the standards are our standards.

Smaller Households Must Plan And Shop Carefully

Cooking can be a frustrating experience if your family is small. Recipes, package sizes and supermarket are often geared to large families, since traditionally larger families have been common, says Barbara McLaurin, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service food and nutrition specialist.

Today, smaller households of one and two members make up a larger portion of the population. They include singles, young couples without children, middle-aged couples whose children have left home, senior citizens, and widowed and divorced persons of all ages.

If you belong to one of these households, you may spend more per person for groceries and waste more food than larger families, says Mrs. McLaurin. With careful planning and shopping, you can prepare a variety of appetizing, low-cost meals, even if your family is small.

Plan each day's meals to include foods from each of the basic four food groups. While three meals a day is usual, many people like to eat four or more, lighter meals. If serving sizes are small, use more servings from each group every day, she suggests.

Plan for a variety of color, flavor and texture to add interest to meals. Combine bland with tart flavors, mild with strong flavored foods, or have something crisp to contrast with softer foods. Use hot and cold foods for variety.
